TV PIPELINE

By Jay Bobbin

Q: One of my favorite shows is "The Mentalist," and I would like to know anything about the actor who plays Cho. — Louise Everett, Marysville, Wash.

A: San Francisco native Tim Kang is the performer in question on the CBS show. "The Mentalist" is the longest series gig he's had to date, though he appeared in multiple episodes of "Third Watch" and also made one-shot appearances on such programs as "Law & Order: Criminal Intent," "Ghost Whisperer," "Monk" and "The Office."

A graduate of Harvard University and the University of California at Berkeley, Kang — who studied at the Moscow Art Theatre School as well — also had notable roles in the feature films "Rambo," "The Forgotten" and "Two Weeks Notice." Additionally, he's been featured in a number of commercials that received national play.

Q: What happened to "Rules of Engagement" with David Spade, which was on Mondays after "Two and a Half Men"? Will it be coming back? — Jennifer Glenn, Plano, Texas

A: It will. Typically a midseason starter for CBS, the sitcom begins its fourth round March 1. Instead of following "Two and a Half Men" on Mondays, it will now precede the Charlie Sheen-Jon Cryer hit — displacing Jenna Elfman's "Accidentally on Purpose" from the Monday lineup. That show then will be seen on Wednesdays starting March 31.

Q: I'm sure the new series "White Collar" is a remake of "It Takes a Thief," which starred Robert Wagner as the thief, though I can't remember who played the FBI man. Am I right? — Mary Stemper, Milwaukee

A: Clearly, there are similarities between the two series, but USA Network's "White Collar" is not cited as being a direct and intentional remake of "It Takes a Thief." The federal agent in the latter show — who actually worked for an organization called the SIA — originally was played by Malachi Throne, and later by Edward Binns when the character was changed.

Ragan looks to make his mark in Daytona, Cup racing

By George Dickie

When running at Daytona, David Ragan knows that patience is a virtue.

That means stay close to the lead, don't make any rash moves and be ready to race at the end.

And so far, that strategy has worked for the fourth-year Sprint Cup driver.

The 24-year-old Georgia native has finished in the top 10 twice in the "Great American Race," with a sixth-place finish last year and a fifth-place standing in his Daytona debut in 2007.

"That was the race where we just kind of hung out the whole race," recalls Ragan, who will be driving his No. 6 UPS Ford for Roush Fenway Racing in the 43-car field of the 52nd Daytona 500, which airs Sunday, Feb. 14, on Fox from Florida's Daytona International Speedway. "And then with 15 laps to go, we found ourselves in the top 10, so yes, we know how to finish. ... Hopefully we can better that by a little bit."

"The challenges of Daytona," he continues, "are just not getting involved in a wreck early and being there at the end. It's a tough, long race, and you're constantly in traffic, so you're two and three wide the whole race, and the last thing you want is for your day to end early. So you just always try to be aware of your surroundings, and you're just ready to see the tail end of the race come so you can start racing."

Ragan, the son of 1980s Cup driver Ken Ragan, began his career in 1997, racing Bandolero cars, winning 12 races and a championship in 1998.

"I was 11 years old, and I really wanted to race something," Ragan says, "and I finally got (his father) talked into taking me out to the racetrack and driving a Bandolero car, and started racing that. And then, we just eventually fell in love and started taking it more and more seriously every year."

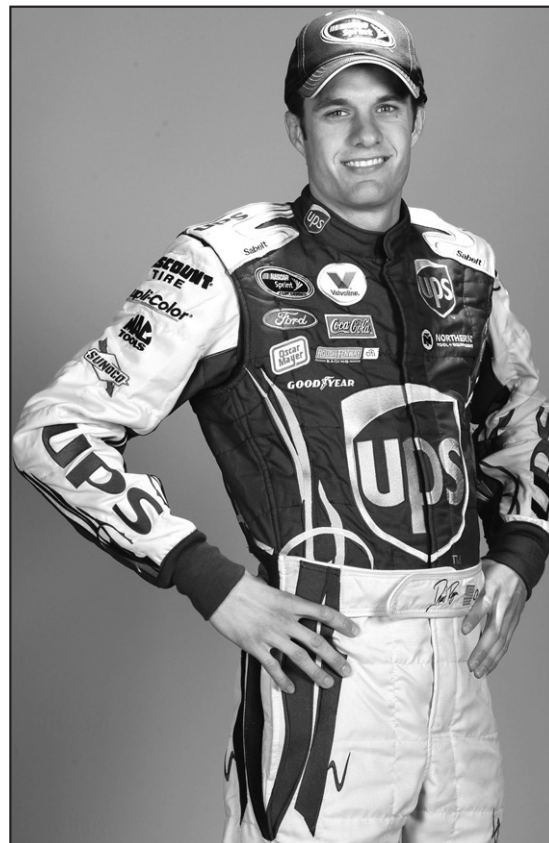

After stints in NASCAR's Goody Dash and Legends Pro series, Ragan graduated to the Truck Series at age 18 in 2004, running 10 races plus one in the Busch Series. Over the next two seasons, he would run full time in Truck before making his debut in both the Busch and Cup Series in 2006. In '07, his first full season in Busch, he finished fifth in points, which garnered him the series' Rookie of the Year award. He also ran full time in Cup, finishing 23rd.

In 2008, he challenged for the Chase, eventually finishing 13th in the Cup standings, while also running part-time in the renamed Nationwide Series. This year, he will continue to run a full-time Cup, part-time Nationwide itinerary, which he says serves as a confidence booster.

"I know all of these racetracks," he says. "I know how this stuff works. And certainly, anytime you can practice or drive, you're going to be better, but it was a real help my rookie season and then even in '08. So yes, it doesn't hurt, but it's not as big as what it used to be. So now if I can focus more of my time on our Cup efforts, I think that's more important."

Ragan, who is still looking for his first Cup win, says his goal for 2010 is "to win some races. If we can be competitive and win races, the points will take care of themselves. Obviously, we all want to make the Chase, but we first have to win some Sprint Cup races, and then I think everything'll take care of itself the rest of the way. But we'll position ourselves and be ready to be a contender, week in and week out."

David Ragan competes in the Daytona 500 Sunday on Fox.

The owners and operators of Debi Lou Fitness Deb Peveler and Lou Segura, with over 25 years experience in the fitness industry, have realized their dream. Their goal is to reach out to all women and children teaching the importance of health and fitness. DebiLou Fitness "Where its not just about the workout" as Deb plainly states it is "our way of life." At this fitness center women learn the impact that strength training has on osteo-arthritis, high blood pressure and type two diabetes just to name a few. The lessons taught here will follow into the next generation of young girls and women.

Owners Deb and Lou are both certified personal trainers and conditioning specialists. Lou is known for his energetic well taught group fitness classes now being offered. Knowledge is power, for that reason, end of the month free seminars are available for anyone interested. Please call DebiLou Fitness for details.

Come enjoy their "At Home Atmosphere" while getting into the best condition ever. Being hands on gives members a real sense of belonging. Both Deb and Lou are with you every step of the way, until you achieve your success! Become part of their fast growing family and never feel alone in the crowd. At DebiLou Fitness they care about your needs and go the extra mile to help you get there.

Global Terminal Gives City Second Payment for Fire Pumper

Mayor Mark A. Smith announced that Global Terminal Corporation (GTC) USA has given the City of Bayonne the second annual installment of $110,000 for the purchase of an American LaFrance pumper for the Bayonne Fire Department. Last year, the company gave the municipality the first of three installments for the Fire Department's vehicle, which had a total price of $332,000. John Atkins, Global's Chief Operating Officer, presented the second installment during a recent meeting in the Office of the Mayor. The pumper has the capacity to pump 1,500 gallons of water per minute.

Mayor Smith said, "I would like to thank the Global Terminal Corporation for its continuing generosity to the City of Bayonne. Global's first installment payment to the City of Bayonne enabled us to take title to the vehicle in 2009. Before that, the pumper had been in storage, waiting a resolution of financial issues between the manufacturer, American LaFrance, and the City of Bayonne."

The local Global Terminal operation straddles the Bayonne-Jersey City border. It employs an estimated 100 Bayonne residents out of its 340 employees. The Global Terminal facilities in Bayonne and elsewhere are owned by the Ontario Teachers Pension Plan, which is headquartered in Toronto.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

HBO's 'Ricky Gervais Show' is drawn from real-life chats

By John Crook

No one ever could accuse Emmy winner Ricky Gervais ("Extras") of not being animated. If anything, the wisecracking British writer, producer and comic — and co-creator of the original Britcom version of "The Office" — shares the same manic sense of humor and creativity as America's Robin Williams.

But Gervais — along with longtime collaborator Stephen Merchant and their friend and associate Karl Pilkington — gets animated in the literal sense in "The Ricky Gervais Show," a 13-episode HBO comedy series premiering Friday, Feb. 19.

Drawn (pun intended) from the trio's record-breaking podcasts, the series features Gervais and Merchant engaging in spontaneous chitchat on a variety of topics, usually reacting to the consistently out-of-left-field comments by Pilkington, who originally began working with them as a radio producer. Each time Gervais or Merchant tossed a question to him, however, Pilkington's off-the-cuff — and often monkey-centric — responses invariably proved to be comedy gold.

The HBO series overlays simple animation onto those unscripted podcasts, which have not been tampered with in terms of their content.

"We wanted to be retro (in the animation style) because we thought some of the subjects we handle are quite out there," Gervais explains. "They are quite taboo subjects. We thought if (the animation) was too spiky or trendy, it would just be too off-putting. So we wanted it to be sort of cozy and sweet and cuddly, because some of the things that Karl has come up with are incredible. I mean, he thought Anne Frank was just avoiding paying rent."

"We asked him once about evolution, and he said, 'Yeah, I know about evolution. It goes germ, fish, mermaid, human,'" Merchant says.

Although Gervais and Merchant aren't shy about calling Pilkington things like "moron" and "idiot" during their chats, both men insist that their co-star is a fame-averse bloke who doesn't take their jibes to heart.

"He doesn't fully understand what we are talking about," Gervais jokes.

"He's not paying attention," Merchant says.

"The Ricky Gervais Show" premieres Friday on HBO.

WOLFGANG PUCK'S KITCHEN

By Wolfgang Puck

Plan a Great Dessert for Your Valentine

Where romance is concerned, it's never too early to start thinking about food to go with it. That's why I'd like to give you a head start on your plans for a Valentine's Day treat.

Chocolate, as we all know, is the most traditional treat to give the one you love. Most people begin and end their efforts, however, by buying a box of store-bought chocolates.

This year, I suggest that you do something different: Make an amazing chocolate dessert for your Valentine. It's easy if you follow my recipe for Chocolate Souffle Bread Pudding. And nothing is likely to impress him or her more.

The quantities given in the recipe yield 6 individual servings of 1/2 cup each - enough for the seconds many chocolate lovers will want, and one each extra to re-heat gently, or even eat cold, for breakfast the next morning.

And why not keep Valentine's Day going into February 15?

CHOCOLATE SOUFFLE BREAD PUDDING

Makes 6 servings, 1/2 cup each

PUDDING:

4 slices egg bread such as challah or brioche, about 2-1/2 ounces total
6 tablespoons heavy organic cream
3 ounces bittersweet chocolate, cut into small pieces
1/4 cup plus 1-1/2 tablespoons unsalted butter, at room temperature
3 large cage-free eggs, separated
6 tablespoons finely ground almonds
1/2 cup sugar

CREME CHANTILLY:

1 cup heavy organic cream, well chilled
2 tablespoons sugar
Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. Butter 6 individual souffle cups or ramekins, each 1/2 cup.

For the pudding, put the bread in a mixing bowl and pour the 6 tablespoons cream over it. Let stand at room temperature for 30 minutes.

Put 2 inches of water in a medium saucepan. Bring to a boil and reduce the heat to a simmer. Put the chocolate in a heatproof mixing bowl large enough to rest inside the rim of the saucepan without touching the water below. Set the bowl over the simmering water and melt the chocolate, stirring until smooth. Remove the bowl and set aside at room temperature to let the chocolate cool slightly.

Meanwhile, put the butter in a food processor fitted with the stainless-steel blade. Process until the butter is creamed, looking light, fluffy, and pale in color. Add the egg yolks, almonds, 6 tablespoons sugar, the soaked bread, and the melted chocolate. Process until thoroughly combined and smooth, then transfer to a mixing bowl.

In another bowl, using clean beaters on a hand-held electric mixer or a stand mixer, whip the egg whites until they form soft peaks that droop slightly when the beaters are lifted out. On medium speed, gradually beat in the remaining 1/4 cup sugar from the pudding ingredients and continue to beat until the egg whites look stiff and shiny. With a rubber spatula, gently fold the egg whites in 2 batches into the chocolate mixture until only a few streaks of white remain.

Bring a teakettle of water to a boil. Spoon the mixture into the buttered ramekins. Place a clean kitchen towel in the bottom of a baking pan and place the filled ramekins on top of the towel, spaced evenly apart. Slide out a rack of the pre-heated oven and place the pan on the shelf. Carefully pour the boiling water into the pan to come half way up the sides of the ramekins. Loosely cover the ramekins with a sheet of buttered aluminum foil, placing it buttered side down. Carefully slide the oven rack back into the oven, close the oven, and bake until the puddings are set, about 45 to 50 minutes.

While the puddings are baking, make the Creme Chantilly. Put the 1 cup cream and the 2 tablespoons sugar into a mixing bowl. With clean beaters, whip the cream and sugar until the mixture has thickened barely enough to be spoonable. Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate.

To serve, carefully remove the puddings one by one from their water bath. Using a pot holder, carefully invert a pudding onto a serving plate to unmold it; or serve in its ramekin on a plate. Spoon some whipped cream on or around each pudding.

HOROSCOPES

ARIES - Mar 21/Apr 20 Pressures at home cause you to do a little soul-searching. Aries. What you discover is you need rest more than anything right now. So take a few days off.

TAURUS - Apr 21/May 21 You have a full agenda for the week, Taurus. Part of it involves lending a helping hand to Pisces. Finding time will be challenging, but you'll get everything done.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21 Romance will have to take a backseat to other responsibilities this week, Gemini. You will have to mend things with your romantic partner afterward, however.

CANCER - June 22/July 22 Cancer, you have been enjoying life in the fast lane, but this week there are a bunch of stop signs ahead. Don't let it get you discouraged. Home matters take precedence.

LEO - July 23/Aug 23 A snap of your fingers won't have people running this week, Leo. You will have to get many of your tasks completed on your own. A financial setback has you thinking.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22 A clash of personalities causes tension at the workplace, Virgo. You cannot win this situation, so walk away with grace. Bosses will be looking at your behavior.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23 Make a point to visit someone you haven't seen in a while, Libra. The stars point strongly to domestic ties. An encounter at work leaves you a little shaken up.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22 You are all business while others are having fun, Scorpio. Loosen up and enjoy the party for a while instead of being focused on goals and your workload.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21 Travel is in your immediate future, Sagittarius. You had better have a bag packed so you'll be ready to leave in a moment's notice. Aquarius wants to come along.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20 Thank those who have come to your assistance in the last few days, Capricorn. While you don't relish the thought of asking for help, offer thanks to those who provide it.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18 Triple-check your math, Aquarius. There are some discrepancies in your finances that need some clarification. Virgo has the answers you need on Saturday.

PISCES - Feb 19/Mar 20 Someone you love gives you wings when you are having trouble getting off the ground, Pisces. Accept the help graciously.
