'Mrs. Wilson' is star Ruth Wilson's grandmother in 'Masterpiece' drama

By Jay Bobbin

For most performers, doing a drama isn't a family matter. And then, there's Ruth Wilson.

The former co-star of Showtime's "The Affair" plays her own grandmother

Ruth Wilson plays her own grandmother in the new "Masterpiece" drama "Mrs. Wilson," starting Sunday on PBS (check local listings).

— who learned, under tragic circumstances, that her marriage wasn't necessarily what she thought it was — in the new "Masterpiece" offering "Mrs. Wilson," which airs over two consecutive Sundays starting March 31 on PBS (check local listings).

After the death of her espionage-novelist husband (played by Iain Glen), Alison Wilson discovers that he secretly had a completely separate second family. With her grief suddenly compounded by doubts of how much (or even if) he loved her, she finds her distress mounting as she meets his previously unknown relatives. Keeley Hawes ("Masterpiece: The Durrells in Corfu") plays his other spouse, with Fiona Shaw ("Killing Eve") and Patrick Kennedy ("Boardwalk Empire") also in the cast.

"My grandmother wrote a memoir in two parts," Ruth Wilson explains, "and she gave the first part to us to read probably about 15 years ago. And that was about her growing up, meeting Alec, falling in love with him, and then finding out about his betrayal." The memoir's second half landed in the hands of Alison's survivors after her death, and Ruth reports "that was all about her finding God, which is the second part of the film. But weirdly, a year after she died, we then had correspondence from two other people saying, 'I think we've got the same dad.'

"So, we worked out that she was one of four wives, not one of two. And we have an inkling that she might have known the full story, but only chose to write about one of them in her memoir. The (TV) piece then became an amalgamation of the memoir and things we have since found out about Alec and about his life, and about my grandmother's life. I've been talking about it for years. We had these family reunions where we had name tags and met each other."

Given her personal attachment to the tale "Mrs. Wilson" tells, actress Wilson expectedly reflects, "It's been an amazing, profound experience, and a very difficult experience in many ways. And something very hard to play, but an amazing privilege to step inside my grandmother's shoes and tell this story and to tell it for the family."

And the relatives have seen the result, Wilson adds: "We had a family screening. We had all 55 members there, and that's from the age of six months to 96 or 97. And there was a four-minute silence (at the end). Everyone was in tears, and it was an amazing bonding experience ... so if anything, that's the best thing that's come from this."

Bayonne to Hold Kickoff Event for Census 2020 on Wednesday, April 3

Mayor Jimmy Davis announced that the City of Bayonne will hold a kickoff event for Census 2020 on Wednesday, April 3, at 6:30 p.m., in the Council Chambers at City Hall, 630 Avenue C. Mayor Davis said, "Getting a complete count of Bayonne's population in 2020 is vitally important. Many federal and state aid programs for cities are based on population size. For the ten years following the census, we will get more funding from a variety of programs for each person counted. That is why I urge all Bayonne residents, organizations, houses of worship, and businesses to support Census 2020."

For the kickoff event on April 3, the City of Bayonne has invited speakers from the U.S. Census Bureau, the County of Hudson, the New Jersey Counts Project, and the Advocates for Children of New Jersey. The County of Hudson has worked with Bayonne and other municipalities on preparing residential address lists for the Census Bureau. The New Jersey Counts Project of the New Jersey Institute for Social Justice is working to make sure that hard-to-count groups are included in Census 2020. The Advocates for Children of New Jersey will speak about the undercount of children under the age of five in the census, and how that undercount can reduce the funding for school meals and other children's programs.

Additional census activities will be announced in 2019 and 2020.

Public Information Officer Joseph E. Ryan is serving as Bayonne's liaison to the Census Bureau for Census 2020, as he did for Census 2000 and Census 2010. He will chair Bayonne's Complete Count Committee for Census 2020. The committee will work with various public agencies, clergy people, local businesses, and community groups to spread the word about the importance of Census 2020. The Complete Count Committee will also provide additional assistance to the Census Bureau as needed in 2019 and 2020.

Mayor Davis concluded, "Bayonne is undergoing a major period of growth. We want to make sure that our growing population is reflected in Census 2020. We urge all Bayonne residents to make sure that you are counted in next year's census. Thanks for helping Bayonne have a complete count in 2020."

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20 Capricorn, take a step back if your approach to a problem is not leading to a solution. Some time away might provide the new perspective you need to find the answer after all.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18 Aquarius, do not procrastinate when others request your feedback. Give a prompt answer and be definitive in your explanation so there is no chance for misinterpretation.

'Crazy Ex-Girlfriend' signs off musically, appropriately

By Jay Bobbin

What a crazy journey it's been. And Rachel Bloom can confirm it. After Showtime passed on it, her "Crazy Ex-Girlfriend" was picked up by The CW and became a novelty for television, given its often musical approach to its serio-comic content. It ends its four-season run Friday, April 5 — and the finale will be followed by a related concert special, with the cast performing selections from the more than 150 original songs written for the series by Bloom, Adam Schlesinger ("That Thing You Do!") and Jack Dolgen.

"Every season was always a different lens of what it meant to be a 'crazy ex' from the inside out," Bloom reflects. "There are network executives around town who know how our series ends, if they remember or care. Most of them probably don't, because they passed. But this season was what we pitched, the fourth phase (for heroine Rebecca Bunch, played by Bloom) ... kind of recovery and starting from scratch, and in a really fun way. Every season of our show (has felt) fresh and new."

"We always conceived of it as a beginning, middle and end," adds Aline Brosh McKenna, who co-created "Crazy Ex-Girlfriend" with Bloom (and directed the finale), with both of them among its executive producers. "It always had a shape to it. When I say that, it means we didn't have every scene and every character turn mapped out, but we knew generally. So now, in a good way, it feels like landing on the aircraft carrier. And that's nice for us."

Among the "Crazy Ex-Girlfriend" rewards reaped by Bloom have been a Golden Globe, a Television Critics Association Award and a Critics' Choice Television Award, plus a 2018 concert tour that's scheduled to get a revival at New York's Radio City Music Hall in May.

That's quite an outcome for someone who initially thought that her show never would air, then had to revise it substantially — expanding it from a half-hour to an hour, and contouring it to broadcast-television standards from the more permissible premium-cable world — to meet The CW's needs.

Word of the final-season order came during the aforementioned concert tour. Bloom muses about being on an airplane then: "It was a two-hour flight. I was like, 'I'd like to buy everyone on this flight champagne.' And (the flight attendants) were like, 'Honestly, it's a lot of work for us.'"

Bloom suggests that if "Crazy Ex-Girlfriend" hadn't lasted this long on The CW, she and the staff still might "have written the rest of the series, but changed the name slightly so we wouldn't get sued for rights, and then just put it on YouTube. It's probably what would have happened."

Laundry Express LAUNDROMAT

As you enter Laundry Express you will see this is a completely renovated facility. It is well lit and kept spotlessly clean. This business features the latest in laundering technology. Customers have access to environmentally sound Electrolux washers, which offer our discriminating clientele machines that are programmed to evaluate water levels sufficiently enough to thoroughly cleanse your varied wardrobe items without wasting a drop of our precious water supply. Washers are available in size order of 18, 45, 60 and 77 pound capacities. The washers will also balance your load for you automatically, almost like magic - but ladies and gentlemen - it is the latest technology! Each wash is also equipped with a read out display that is bi-lingual. The machine can be set to English/Spanish or English/Arabic and many other languages so no client will be left confused about the directions in operating the machines.

The business is always attended both day and night. The gentleman owner is bilingual in English and Spanish, a lady attendant in the afternoon is fluent in four languages and two young women, who are bilingual, are available to offer wash and fold services for a nominal fee in the afternoon. Clothes can be dropped off and washed and folded and be retrieved in an hour and a half for a small load up to 30 lbs. and three hours for larger loads (40-50 lbs). Please ask for fees associated with this service.

While this writer was present, a gentleman loaded his machine and an odd sound occurred. When the wash was finished, a quarter had been left in a pocket was affixed centrally on the glass - front load window - where he retrieved it easily.

The owner: Jairo, is very agreeable and impressively knowledgeable about his machines and fabrics and how to wash and dry comforters. He welcomes questions; ask him about the displays and what they will tell you concerning time estimates and other amazing features your display will keep you apprised of.

Folding tables are located opposite the washers as you enter the business from the sidewalk. Outlets are available on the wall for your convenience above the tables to charge your tablets or cell phones. WIFI is available. Laundry baskets are available beneath the tables. The folding tables are regularly cleaned and disinfected.

Change making machines and detergent, softener and bleach dispensers are centrally located. Only liquid products are recommended for use in the washers because they are the most efficient and do not leave residue in the threads and weaves of your garments as powders do - this reduces as many irritants as possible from being trapped in your clothing.

The Electrolux dryers' capacities are 35 lbs. and 50 lbs. and are energy efficient. All dryers are equipped with sensors to detect any wetness. Spots that are not completely dry will be addressed before the display reads finished and a ding alerts the customer to retrieve their items. The machine will also fluff up your comforters and redistribute your load perfectly. Special note: Dryers have a NO HEAT option. You can elect to have your comforters and other delicacies air dried by a fan and comforters will maintain their plumpness and delicacies will not shrink or fade from heat.

Laundry Express is open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. for business every day. Last wash is at 8:15 p.m. Call 201-339-7292. Please bring in the coupon from our ad on page 12 of TV TALK for a complimentary FREE Dry!

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL After speaking to Ridge, Brooke booked a flight home to L.A. Eric explained to Thomas that Thorne left town to work through his grief from losing Darla and Aly. Later, Thomas was touched when Douglas told him that Hope had been telling him stories. Now that Thomas was in town for good, Taylor pleaded with Steffy to stay so that the whole family could be together. Thomas told his parents the truth about what was happening in NYC. Everyone noticed a real change in Bill, especially Katie, who told him he was becoming the man she once knew. Wait to See: Hope and Douglas play Go Fish.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES Marlena saw someone from her past during her out-of-body experience and then was caught in a tug-of-war for her soul. Mia threatened to tell Abby about it unless Arturo convinced Rey to take her back. At the hospital, Abby pressured Kyle to confess that Summer was Lola's donor, but Kyle respected Summer's wishes to keep it secret. HOLLYWOOD By Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — Rami Malek, who won the best actor Oscar for "Bohemian Rhapsody," won an Emmy for "Mr. Robot" in 2016 and played the Dustin Hoffman role to Charlie Hunnam's Steve McQueen in the 2018 remake of "Papillion" (which earned only $4.5 million). At age 37, he has now won an Oscar, Emmy, Golden Globe and a Bafta (the English Oscar), and the heart of Lucy Boynton, who played Freddie Mercury's girlfriend. His next film is "The Voyage of Doctor Doolittle" (a remake of the 1967 Rex Harrison film), with Robert Downey, Jr. in the title role, Antonio Banderas, Michael Sheen and Jim Broadbent, due Jan. 17.

Olivia Coleman, who won her best actress Oscar for "The Favourite," has co-starred in many films, including "The Iron Lady" (2011) and "Murder on the Orient Express" (2017). Her TV roles include "Broadchurch" (2013-2017) and "The Crown." Next up for the 45-year-old Coleman is "Them That Follow," produced and starring Gerard Butler. She's been married to Ed Sinclair since 2001, and they have three children.

Another 45-year-old, Mahershala Ali, won a best supporting Oscar for "Moonlight" last year and now for "Green Book," making him the only supporting actor ever to win consecutively. He joins two-time supporting winners: Walter

Rami Malek in "Mr. Robot"

Brennan (1938/1940), Anthony Quinn (1952/1956), Peter Ustinov (1960/1964) and Christoph Waltz (2009/2012). Ali currently stars in HBO's "True Detective," as well as the Oscar-winning best animated film "Spider-Man Into the Spider-Verse" and "Alita: Battle Angel," with Oscar-winners Christoph Waltz and Jennifer Connelly. Ali wed actress Sami-Karim in 2013, and they had a daughter in 2017.

There have been four back-to-back Oscar winners for best actor: Luise Rainer for "The Great Ziegfeld" (1936) and "The Good Earth" (1937); Spencer Tracy for "Captains Courageous" (1937) and "Boys Town" (1938); Katharine Hepburn (who won four total) for "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner" (1967) and "The Lion In Winter" (1968); and Tom Hanks in "Philadelphia" (1993) and "Forrest Gump" (1994).

Regina King, best supporting actress Oscar winner for "If Beale Street Could Talk," played the daughter of Marla Gibbs and Hal Williams in the TV series "227" (1985-90). She gained respect for films such as "Boyz In the Hood" (1991), "Jerry Maguire" (1996) and "Ray" (2004), to name just a few. King killed it in "American Crime Story" (2015-2017) and directed 11 TV shows, including "Scandal," "Shameless" and "The Good Doctor." Up next is HBO's series "Watchmen," with Louis Gossett, Jr. and Jeremy Irons.
